Open a world of aesthetic options
with Metalier Liquid Metal

Did you know?

The concept of Liquid Metal was the invention of a furniture designer.

While Metalier liquid metal is used in many applications, furniture enhancement is its origin and its home.

Let us show you how Metalier can offer you a way to elevate your existing design aesthetic even further.

Creating with Metalier

Metalier is a water-based liquid metal that makes things that aren't made of metal look as though they are.

Metalier can make some metals like steel and aluminium look as though they are brass, copper, bronze and so on.

Metalier can be patinated for an antique look. It can be burnished, brushed and textured and goes round corners and curves.

It follows the intricacies of a carved or moulded design.

The mixed material is sprayed, rolled or brushed onto the substrate and is buffed, polished, or patinated when it has cured.

What is Metalier?

Metalier is a real metal coating. It is genuine metal powders in a water-based proprietary binder.

What about sustainability?

Metalier ticks all the sustainability boxes.

- Zero VOCs in our water-based binder
- Recycled metals
- Very fine metal coating

By applying a fine coating of Metalier we make substrates look as though they are made of solid metal. Because there is so little metal in our material we use only a very small part of the earth's non-renewable resources. Much less than sheet or foundry metal.

It is our mission to tread lightly on the earth.

What could Metalier do for your business?

Metalier is a worldclass material that will allow you to offer metal in your designs in a sustainable, seamless and lightweight way.

You will be able to offer intricate organic shapes that would not be possible with sheet metal.

You will be able to offer your clients choices and exclusivity.

Adding Metalier to your palette will allow you to introduce a material that will preserve your design aesthetic and enhance your existing creations.

What next?

Metalier will make it easy for you to use our material. We will train your craftspeople how to apply and finish the material to the highest standards.

Our coatings are designed to be user-friendly, ensuring that the application is efficient and effective.

Our technical team is on hand to answer any questions that may arise. Support and advice are always available.

You can use our branding to enhance yours, or you can keep our relationship secret. We don't tell if you don't.

Our designer coatings are surprisingly cost-effective.
